

C6

COMPOSITE JEWELRY DESIGN by Anne Cohen

FROM STARDUST TO MODERN TECHNOLOGY

From stardust to life. Created by Supernovas stardust, C6 was spread into the universe and formed the planets and life on earth.

Making jewelry founded on C6 atoms and complimented by two very different materials, carbonfiber and diamonds, is for me a symbol of life. A journey from stardust to modern technology.

Its amazing to put these two materials together. It keeps me wondering how one element, C6 can be so diverse, so spectacular in its own nature. Black as coal and clear as light itself.

This duplicity and the elements duality embodies the magic of the elemental cornerstone of the living world.

For me C6 represents the strenght and the beauty of life.
